

UKCA Telit Cinterion products making

How and where to use the UKCA marking

The UKCA marking must be clearly visible, legible, and indelible when you affix it to the product.

Shall be on the manuals (hardware user guide) or on other supporting literature.

The rules on affixing the UKCA marking are currently the same as for affixing the CE marking.

UKCA markings must only be placed on a product by the manufacturer as defined by RED European Directive, or if you are marketing the products under your name or trademark.

When affixing the UKCA marking, you take full responsibility for conformity with the requirements of the relevant UK legislation.

You must not place any marking, sign or inscription which is likely to mislead any other person as to the meaning or form of the UKCA marking or affix any marking which would impair the visibility, legibility and meaning of the UKCA marking.

A product may have additional markings and marks, like the CE marking, as long as they:

- fulfil a different function from that of the UKCA marking
- are not likely to cause confusion with the UKCA marking
- do not reduce the legibility and visibility of the UKCA marking

Both the CE and UKCA markings can be placed on a product so long as neither prevents the other being clearly seen and the requirements of both GB and EU legislation are met.

Rules for using the UKCA image

You must make sure that:

if you reduce or enlarge the size of your marking, the letters forming the UKCA marking must be in proportion to the version set out below.

the UKCA marking is at least 5mm in height unless a different minimum dimension is specified in the relevant legislation.

the UKCA marking is easily visible, legible and indelible.

The UKCA marking can take different forms, as long as it remains visible, legible and maintains the required proportions.
